Wildlife Rehabilitator Course Offered

A Wildlife Rehabilitator course is being offered on Saturday and Sunday, February 4th & 5th. For those of us here in the South, spring is just around the corner and this means that our wild neighbors will soon be seeking mates, establishing territories and preparing for the next generation. As people and wildlife life dwell in ever growing proximity it follows that the occasional baby squirrel, rabbit, or opossum may require human assistance.

Animal Rehabilitators of the Carolinas (ARC) is an organization that assists these sick, injured, and orphaned wild animals with the goal of returning them to their natural environment. We need your help. Each year, hundreds of our furred neighbors are cared for and released every year and this takes dedicated people and funds. We are looking for individuals to help us to save these sick, injured, and orphaned animals by participating with our organization.

If you think you can help, or if you would like to take the course, please call 704-551-9500 for further information. You can also contact Yanina Razak at 704-910-7317 or yaninarazak@gmail.com. Their website is www.arcwildlife.org.
