Quality Equipment Opens New Polkton Superstore

Anson County now home to the largest John Deere dealership on the east coast. Featuring Stihl equipment also.

Quality Equipment has opened a brand new agricultural and turf superstore in Polkton, located at 7256 Highway 74 West. With almost 80,000 square feet under roof and more than 7 million dollars in parts and equipment inventory, the Polkton dealership represents a consolidation of Quality Equipment's Wadesboro and Monroe locations. Those original locations closed, and this new superstore is the largest Ag and Turf products store on the United States east coast. An open house event will be held Friday, April 7 and carry over into Saturday April 8. Visitors can tour, test drive and enjoy refreshments.

Quality Equipment's CEO Stan Bowers released a statement along with the announcement of the superstore opening, expressing excitement at serving the Anson and Union county area from the new location. "We are thankful for all the business our customers have done with us in Wadesboro and Monroe. Moving forward, our Wadesboro and Monroe customers can expect all of the same great service, plus a greater selection of inventory and parts at our new Polkton location," Stan Bowers said.

Since its founding in 2007, Quality Equipment has established 13 locations across North Carolina carrying a complete line of John Deere agricultural and lawn and garden equipment and commercial worksite products. As it grows, the Quality Equipment dealer network remains dedicated to providing customers with a customized approach to product and service offerings.

"We have a clear mission to be the best, not simply in terms of size, but in the value that we bring to our broad customer base," explained Quality Equipment's Bowers. "This new location allows us to bring greater value to all of our customers in the Anson and Union county area, and we're excited to support new customers with the right equipment, a strong service department, and added parts availability."
