

Spring Break Upside Down!

There's no better place than the beach for spring break, and there's no better "apparatus" than a sand bucket to showcase your balancing skills. This "shore routine" was performed by six and a half year old Elin Lockhart while visiting Caswell Beach during her Easter vacation.

Happy Easter!

Week of the Young Child Parade and Performance

As part of Anson County Partnership for Children's Week of the Young Child activities, children from child care centers and family homes, as well as kindergarten students from Anson County Schools, were invited to participate in a day to celebrate the joys of childhood.

The Children's Theatre of Charlotte presented three performances of "The Commedia Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" at the Ansonia Theatre. The children in the audience laughed and cheered at the antics of the actors. Some of the children enjoyed the play so much that they returned with their parents and other family members to watch the final performance in the evening.

Approximately 525 children joined together at 10 a.m. to march in the annual Week of the Young Child Parade, led by Mrs. Deborah Davis, Anson County Partnership for Children's reigning Champion for Children. She was followed by children dressed beautifully in Snow White gowns, as well as dwarfs dressed in colorful costumes with white beards. There was even a mine cart with beautiful gems being pushed through the streets.

There was even a mine cart with beautiful gems being pushed through the streets.

Planning for this event began in the fall of 2016 when all classes that participate in the Raising A Reader bookbag program were given a copy of the book Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, as well as a study guide and lesson plan activities from the Children's Theatre of Charlotte containing ideas to enhance the live performance and make connections in the classrooms both before and after the performance. Dedicated teachers and assistants, along with talented and generous volunteers in the community, brought the dream to a reality for the children in Anson County.

The Anson County Partnership for Children would like to thank the Anson County Arts Council and Anson Family Optometric for co-sponsoring this event.
