Rachael Huntley Inducted into Beta Gamma Sigma Honor Society

Rachael Huntley was among 38 undergraduate and graduate students in the North Carolina State University Poole College of Management that were inducted into the Beta Gamma Sigma Honor Society on April 18th at NC State's E. Carroll Joyner Visitor Center in Raleigh. Beta Gamma Sigma is the international academic honor society serving business programs accredited by AACSB International - The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business.

Membership in Beta Gamma Sigma is the highest recognition a business student anywhere in the world can receive in a business program accredited by AACSB International. Those students eligible for membership must be enrolled in a program of business accepted by AACSB International; in addition undergraduates (second- semester juniors or seniors) must have an academic rank in the upper 10 percent of their class and graduate students must have an academic rank in the upper 20 percent of their class.

According to Beta Gamma Sigma their mission is "to encourage and honor academic achievement in the study of business, to foster personal and professional excellence, to advance the values of the Society, and to serve its lifelong members."

Rachael is a junior accounting major at NCSU and is a 2009 graduate of Anson High School. She is the daughter of Ross Huntley and the late Tommy Huntley.
