Lunch and Learn Session on Wound Care May 30

Sandhills Regional will host a lunch and learn on wound care healing at the Holla Community Center in Morven on Wednesday, May 30 at noon. Got a wound that won't heal? Do you provide care for someone who does? Do you or someone you know have diabetes?

The Sandhills Center for Wound Healing and Hyperbaric Medicine, located in Hamlet, specializes in problem wounds and advanced treatment alternatives. Find out how it works during this free lunch and learn event.

Program Director Hazel Seibles will discuss various treatment options, what types of wounds are eligible for certain therapies, and show before and after photos of advanced wound healing experienced at the center. The wound care center has countless success stories of problem wounds that are now problems solved. Some patients have even avoided amputations after successful treatment.

The Sandhills Center for Wound Healing and Hyperbaric Medicine was the first wound care center in the Sandhills area. Patients who undergo HBO (hyperbaric oxygen) therapy experience faster wound healing as they breathe in 100 percent oxygen under pressure in a hyperbaric chamber. On average, a healthy person breathes 21 percent oxygen in a normal environment. While breathing 100 percent oxygen in the chamber, the patient's blood, platelets and tissues are forced to over-saturate with oxygen thereby accelerating the healing process.

Since its opening the wound care center has forged a trail of excellence in this specialty under the expert direction of Dr. Alan Coulson, a general and vascular surgeon at Sandhills Regional Medical Center, who also works at the wound care center. Coulson is board certified in Undersea and Hyperbaric Medicine and is quickly rising through the ranks as an advanced wound care specialist.

A free lunch will be provided during the program. Please RSVP by May 25 to (704) 695-4968 or email kim.harrington@hma.com.

For more information about the wound care center, call (910) 205-1525. Self-referrals are accepted.
