Thank You from People Fest Director, Misty Harris

As the director of the 2011 People Fest, I would like to extend a heart-felt thank you to everyone who has helped to make this year's festival a huge success. Our numerous financial sponsors helped pay for the entertainment acts, as well as the many operational items that go into running a festival.

A special thank you goes to the local businesses, community organizations, and individuals who gave of their services. I would also like to thank The Express Newspaper and the Anson Record for covering the festival in their newspapers. Publicity is one of the keys of success for the festival. I would also like to thank Jennifer Tarlton, Kelsey Creager, Lynn Barbee, Tim Barbee, Jake Barbee, and Wanda Harris for their help the night before and the actual day of People Fest.

But most importantly, the biggest thank you goes to the Town of Wadesboro. Under the guidance of the Town Council, including Mayor Bill Thacker and councilors Ed Emory, Fred Davis, James David Lee, Paula Tice, Bobby Usrey and Town Manager John Witherspoon, this festival is made possible. The town employees also play a huge part in making People Fest happen each year. Public Service Director Hugh James, the Street Department under the direction of Jeff Harris, the Sanitation Department under the direction of Kenneth Dutton, the office staff, the Fire Department under the direction of Jimmy Burns, as well as the Police Department under the direction of Chief Janie Schutz all work diligently in the weeks prior to the festival and the day of the festival to make sure the event runs smoothly. People Fest would not happen without the countless hours they put towards making the festival a success.
