

Corn Growers Association of North Carolina Notice of Referendum

The Corn Growers Association of North Carolina will be conducting a referendum for the assessment of corn sold to first purchasers in North Carolina on March 14.

Voting will take place at County Extension offices during regular business hours.

The current assessment is 1.25 cents per bushel, and the Association is proposing to change the assessment to .30% of settlement. This will bring the Association's assessment in line with other row crop assessments across North Carolina.

If the Association realizes an increase in funds they will be applied to an endowed chair position at NC State University for the Extension Cropping Specialist-Corn position. This endowment will ensure the position will be filled with the highest qualified candidates in perpetuity. Additionally, any increase in revenue will cover the increased cost of conducting research which benefits all North Carolina corn producers.

The votes will be collected and tabulated by NC State University and results published by North Carolina Department of Agriculture & Consumer Services.

The Corn Growers Association of North Carolina is governed by an all-volunteer board of farmers and industry representatives. The Association is committed to promoting production agriculture, funding research that benefits corn growers across the state, and representing all the state's farmers nationally and internationally.

Applications Now Open for NCDOT HBCU Internship, Fellowship Programs

The N.C. Department of Transportation is now accepting applications for the 2023 Historically Black Colleges and Universities and Minority-Serving Institutions internship and fellowship programs.

NCDOT's HBCU and Minority-Serving Institution Internship Program provides hands-on experience for students attending HBCUs and MSIs. The summer internship program is an ideal way for undergraduate students to gain work experience with the NCDOT, while learning what a career in the transportation industry can offer. The internships also include professional development workshops on skills such as résumé building, business writing and networking.

Fellows are offered a two-year individual fellowship experience tailored to their interests, involvement and goals.

Applicants who apply to the fellows program must have graduated within the past three years with a bachelor's degree or master's degree from a North Carolina HBCU or MSI.

Participants work in all areas of the transportation industry. The programs also offer free trainings and certifications, travel, and opportunities to network with and learn from transportation professionals.

The fellowship program helps develop a pool of qualified employees for potential permanent positions within NCDOT and the transportation industry.

The period to apply for an HBCU internship or fellowship closes March 16. Selected applicants will start work May 30.

If you are interested in learning more information, go to HBCU Outreach Initiatives and Programs (ncdot.gov/about-us/board-offices/offices/hbcu/Pages/initiatives-programs.aspx). The applications for internships and the fellows programs are posted on the NC Office of State Human Resources website:
