

Anson Academy Students Learn About the Global Vocational Training Center

Mr. Michael Norman and his staff came to visit and talk to students at Anson Academy about the Global Vocational Training Center in Charlotte. The training center is a certified and licensed company working with adolescents, recent high school graduates, unemployed and underemployed men and women, dislocated workers, and anyone else who is re-entering the community or struggling to find consistent work.

The Global Vocational Training Center is a National Center Construction Education Research (NCCER) certified trade training center. NCCER's industry-recognized credentials provide students and craft professionals with national portability of skills. The center creates pathways to employment for adolescents and adults through skills training, life-long learning, and social inclusion opportunities. The center offers classes such as electrical installation and HVAC installation. Students can receive a NCCER certificate within six months. Financial resources will be available for students in need of any financial assistance.

Anson Youth Leaders Dramatize Key Figures in Black History in "Blacks in Wax Museum"

Anson Middle School students who are involved in the Anson Youth Leaders Academy, a program of the Caraway Foundation, coordinated and participated in a Blacks in Wax Museum on Saturday, February 8 at the Hampton B. Allen Library.
