McBride's Radio and Sign Service

Not many, I am sure, remember the above picture of 57 years ago. The location was the Fenton Building (presently H & R Block) - built by Vic Fenton for his tin shop. There are many residential and commercial "raised seam roofs" in and around the Wadesboro trade area that Mr. Vic, Herman Marsh and "Jug" Robinson installed in their time - this is the place that Herman found his desire to do metal work. We had only twenty five feet of space - from the front door to the wall (partition) and did radio repairs and painted signs - there was no TV yet down south, so I did mostly radio, small appliances repair (irons, toasters, mixers, etc.) in the winter time and signs and truck lettering in the summer time. We had a visit last week from Ervin Rayle, Jr. and his wife, during "our remembering" conservation, we began naming some of the many people who lived on that block of Rutherford Street - very few from that time are still around. Beginning on the corner, just a few were: Allen Furniture Co. - Fred Allen, Jack Gathings, Uncle Lacy Ballard and George Smuggs; Hightower Ice and Fuel - Foyle Hightower, Sr., Hank Wall, Sr.; Lacy and Aunt Monte Ballard; "our place," the Fenton's; the W. E. Rayles; and the Bill Wildermuth's. Across the street: Mozelle Winfree; Effie Gray; Edna Gray; Elizabeth Webb - and the list continues on. How times/years change - and the Christmas window was all "home-made" - "hand painted" and Santa was a "Pre-World War II" store mannequin given to us from Mr. Scarborough at Belks. Lucy "hand-made" Santa's suit, the gift packages were empty boxes - wrapped pretty! Thanks to so many who have done so much - to make things "more gooder!!!" Merry Christmas "You All!"

Shakespeare Comes to Cheraw!

The Cheraw Arts Commission presents the Barter Players in one of Shakespeare's most powerful plays, Macbeth, on Wednesday, March 5 at the Theatre on the Green in Cheraw. Jealousy, schemes, and intrigue reign as Macbeth and his wife reach for the king's crown. What are they willing to sacrifice to get what they want? What price will they pay for getting it? This one-hour version uses only Shakespeare's language and is an incredible look inside the heart of ambition. The 7 p.m. performance is for students 9th grade through adults. Opening in 1933, the Barter Theatre in Abingdon, VA is one of the longest-running professional theatres in the nation. During the Great Depression patrons unable to buy 40 cent tickets were allowed to exchange their food products for admission to theatre performances, hence the name Barter. Advance tickets are available at the Cheraw Community Center - 200 Power Street. Tickets are $8 for students, $10 for adult CAC Members and $12 for adult non-members. Contact the Cheraw Arts Commission 843-537-8420 x 12 for additional information.
