cars to those in need of a pleasant ride around their home property or from their beach house to the shore or around their neighborhoods. Friends often dropped by the shop to chat as he tinkered on a cart. A favorite golf cart or two were frequently seen in the Marshville Christmas Parade or in line at the drive-thru of the local Wendy's.

Mr. Beachum was appointed to and elected to the Marshville Town Council, and served several terms in office. In addition to community service, he was active in the churches he attended assisting in many projects, participating in church groups and classes and teaching Sunday school. Mr. Beachum formed long lasting friendships with colleagues through each of his varied careers and civic and church activities.

Surviving are his wife Doris, two sisters: Rebecca Beachum Bullard and Ramona Beachum Miller (Bill); children: Darrel and Darlene (Helms) Beachum and Kim and Jeff Robertson; grandchildren: Adam and Hannah (Wood) Beachum, Alexis and Patrick Leasure, Kate Robertson, Austin Beachum and Gabby Herrick and Ava Beachum; great-grandchildren: Kayden, Atlas and Xander Beachum and Ellie Leasure on the way; niece Crystal Thomas Metz (Clark) and children Will and Charlotte;

Mr. Beachum was a US Army veteran, stationed in Korea serving in the communication division. Upon completing his military service he married, settled into family life and began a career in retail sales. Mr. Beachum's warm and welcoming personality and ready smile helped him build a long and successful career with Sears, first working in Wadesboro before moving to the Monroe store and eventually taking his salesmanship skills to the South Park Mall and Eastland Mall locations. As an Installed Home Improvements Salesman, Mr. Beachum was well versed in a broad range of items from appliances and carpeting to fencing and roofing. He was consistently recognized by Sears as an exceptional salesman.

Retiring from Sears in 1992, Mr. Beachum next pursued a second business path in the pre-owned car trade. For several years he could be found at the car lot on Concord Avenue in Monroe. After relocating with his wife from Monroe to Marshville, his interest switched from cars to golf carts. Mr. Beachum provided many customized golf
