RCC Dialysis Technology Program Training Much Needed Healthcare Workers

The state for kidney disease is staggering. One in three Americans is currently at risk for developing kidney disease. In some parts of the country, such as the Carolinas, a kidney transplant is required. Approximately 650,000 Americans are on dialysis. Richmond Community College has a unique Dialysis Technology diploma program that trains technicians to work in dialysis centers, hospitals and other healthcare settings that offer dialysis treatment. "As with all RCC’s programs, the College is in tune with the need for increased training in various fields," said Dr. John Shepherd, a nephrologist with Pinehurst Nephrology Associates, said there is a growing need for staffing at dialysis centers. "One of the problems we run into at 50-mile radius of Richmond County and has 64 centers in North Carolina and 20 centers in South Carolina, but still have had their first two seizure with each other.

Dr. Dale McInnis, RCC president, said, "These programs such as the one being offered at RCC is a great starting place for students who want to pursue a career in health care. "I’ve known a lot of technicians who started with us and had the opportunity to get into some of the top dialysis programs."

Don’t Forget Your Sunglasses!

The confidence to do more.

Polarized lenses reduce reflected glare from surrounding water.

Don’t Forget Your Sunglasses!

A variety of meats (chicken, beef, pork, and fish) and several side items are for use by written-permitted users, water company or fire department personnel only.

Family Trip to Myrtle Beach Offered

Grace Senior Center is sponsoring a day trip to Myrtle Beach, South Carolina on Thursday, August 6. Time will be spent on the beach, Broadway at the Beach and Banana Ron.

The cost of the trip is $65 per person. No refunds will be issued for children ages 2 for days 6 or older do not refund less than 2 weeks to their door. They are now ac- cepting deposits for this trip. The final day to pay is Thursday, July 30. Please call 704-694-6616 to register or for more information.

RCC Dialysis Technology Program Training Much Needed Healthcare Workers

The state for kidney disease is staggering. One in three Americans is currently at risk for developing kidney disease. In some parts of the country, such as the Carolinas, a kidney transplant is required. Approximately 650,000 Americans are on dialysis. Richmond Community College has a unique Dialysis Technology diploma program that trains technicians to work in dialysis centers, hospitals and other healthcare settings that offer dialysis treatment. "As with all RCC’s programs, the College is in tune with the need for increased training in various fields," said Dr. John Shepherd, a nephrologist with Pinehurst Nephrology Associates, said there is a growing need for staffing at dialysis centers. "One of the problems we run into at

Dr. Dale McInnis, RCC president, said, "These programs such as the one being offered at RCC is a great starting place for students who want to pursue a career in health care. "I’ve known a lot of technicians who started with us and had the opportunity to get into some of the top dialysis programs."

Don’t Forget Your Sunglasses!

The confidence to do more.

Polarized lenses reduce reflected glare from surrounding water.

Don’t Forget Your Sunglasses!

A variety of meats (chicken, beef, pork, and fish) and several side items are for use by written-permitted users, water company or fire department personnel only.

Family Trip to Myrtle Beach Offered

Grace Senior Center is sponsoring a day trip to Myrtle Beach, South Carolina on Thursday, August 6. Time will be spent on the beach, Broadway at the Beach and Banana Ron.

The cost of the trip is $65 per person. No refunds will be issued for children ages 2 for days 6 or older do not refund less than 2 weeks to their door. They are now ac- cepting deposits for this trip. The final day to pay is Thursday, July 30. Please call 704-694-6616 to register or for more information.

RCC Dialysis Technology Program Training Much Needed Healthcare Workers

The state for kidney disease is staggering. One in three Americans is currently at risk for developing kidney disease. In some parts of the country, such as the Carolinas, a kidney transplant is required. Approximately 650,000 Americans are on dialysis. Richmond Community College has a unique Dialysis Technology diploma program that trains technicians to work in dialysis centers, hospitals and other healthcare settings that offer dialysis treatment. "As with all RCC’s programs, the College is in tune with the need for increased training in various fields," said Dr. John Shepherd, a nephrologist with Pinehurst Nephrology Associates, said there is a growing need for staffing at dialysis centers. "One of the problems we run into at

Dr. Dale McInnis, RCC president, said, "These programs such as the one being offered at RCC is a great starting place for students who want to pursue a career in health care. "I’ve known a lot of technicians who started with us and had the opportunity to get into some of the top dialysis programs."

Don’t Forget Your Sunglasses!

The confidence to do more.

Polarized lenses reduce reflected glare from surrounding water.

Don’t Forget Your Sunglasses!

A variety of meats (chicken, beef, pork, and fish) and several side items are for use by written-permitted users, water company or fire department personnel only.

Family Trip to Myrtle Beach Offered

Grace Senior Center is sponsoring a day trip to Myrtle Beach, South Carolina on Thursday, August 6. Time will be spent on the beach, Broadway at the Beach and Banana Ron.

The cost of the trip is $65 per person. No refunds will be issued for children ages 2 for days 6 or older do not refund less than 2 weeks to their door. They are now ac- cepting deposits for this trip. The final day to pay is Thursday, July 30. Please call 704-694-6616 to register or for more information.

RCC Dialysis Technology Program Training Much Needed Healthcare Workers

The state for kidney disease is staggering. One in three Americans is currently at risk for developing kidney disease. In some parts of the country, such as the Carolinas, a kidney transplant is required. Approximately 650,000 Americans are on dialysis. Richmond Community College has a unique Dialysis Technology diploma program that trains technicians to work in dialysis centers, hospitals and other healthcare settings that offer dialysis treatment. "As with all RCC’s programs, the College is in tune with the need for increased training in various fields," said Dr. John Shepherd, a nephrologist with Pinehurst Nephrology Associates, said there is a growing need for staffing at dialysis centers. "One of the problems we run into at

Dr. Dale McInnis, RCC president, said, "These programs such as the one being offered at RCC is a great starting place for students who want to pursue a career in health care. "I’ve known a lot of technicians who started with us and had the opportunity to get into some of the top dialysis programs."

Don’t Forget Your Sunglasses!

The confidence to do more.

Polarized lenses reduce reflected glare from surrounding water.

Don’t Forget Your Sunglasses!

A variety of meats (chicken, beef, pork, and fish) and several side items are for use by written-permitted users, water company or fire department personnel only.