Anson Lenders Join New Business Loan Program

Three Anson County lenders and the area's leading business service providers have joined in an effort to get businesses and the North Carolina economy growing again. The three lenders - Anson Bank & Trust, BB&T, and First Bank - have enrolled in a new program that makes it easier for businesses and nonprofits to borrow capital for operations and expansions.

The N.C. Capital Access Program establishes a reserve program that allows lenders to consider loans that fall just outside their usual underwriting standards. The local lenders are among 54 institutions, presenting 1,100 branches statewide, that have enrolled in NC-CAP.

Interested businesses apply for loans through normal channels with their local lenders.
Local service providers stand ready to assist prospective borrowers in preparing business plans and loan applications. They include the Small Business Center at South Piedmont Community College (contact Dan Merle at 704-290-5219) and the N.C. Small Business and Technology Development Center office at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte (704-548-1090).

Any North Carolina business with 500 or fewer employees is eligible to apply for an NC-CAP loan. Nonprofit organizations are eligible for loans to support business purposes, such as child-care centers. Loans generally range from $10,000 up to the maximum of $5 million.

NC-CAP is made possible by $46.1 million in federal funding through the Small Business Jobs Act of 2010. Gov. Beverly Perdue designated the N.C. Rural Economic Development Center to administer the program in all 100 counties.

Banks or businesses requiring additional assistance may contact Lisa Theall at the N.C. Rural Center, 919-250-4314 or ltheall@ncruralcenter.org.

The N.C. Rural Economic Development Center is a private, nonprofit organization whose mission is to develop sound economic strategies that improve the quality of life in rural North Carolina, with a special focus on individuals with low to moderate incomes and communities with limited resources. The center operates a multifaceted program that includes conducting research into rural issues; testing promising rural development strategies; advocating for policy and program innovations; and building the productive capacity of rural leaders, entrepreneurs and community organizations.
