

It's Official...
Our Cutest Reader!

We appreciate everyone who reads The Express, and we would love to feature a photo of each and every one of you, but short of that, how about a picture of one of our youngest readers, two year old Caylee Donaldson. Caylee is safely belted into her car seat (this is Child Passenger Safety Week) and appears to be enjoying a recent edition. Perhaps she is checking out Ed McBride's Remembering column...or at least looking at the pictures.

We want to thank Caylee's parents for sending this picture for us to share. They are Roslyn Forester of Polkton and Jeremy Donaldson of Stanfield, NC. Caylee's grandparents are Dawn Forester of Polkton and Jay and Debbie Donaldson of Stanfield.

Anson Native Earns Doctorate Degree

Horace (Madie) Huntley of Morven and Pamela (Roger) Rorie of Wadesboro are proud to announce the graduation of their daughter, Takeda Huntley LeGrand, from Gardner-Webb University. On August 6 Takeda received a Doctorate of Education in Curriculum and Instruction. While at Gardner-Webb University she earned a Masters in Executive Leadership License and a Curriculum and Instructional Specialist III License.

She is a 1999 Honors Graduate of Anson High School, a 2003 graduate from the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, and a 2009 graduate from North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University. Takeda currently works as an Education Consultant for a non-profit organization and is the co-owner of a private company.

Takeda is the granddaughter of Juanita Huntley of Morven, and the late Clinton (Buster) and Georgia Stewart Knotts of Wadesboro.
