

Remembering.....

By Ed McBride

People Fest Days

We are really indebted to so many people for the contributions in the production of People Fest. I can remember some of the years gone by...regardless of how much planning, the last day or so before the event was always hectic.

I was talking to Denise Beachum the other day about her "something like 18 years" organizing and directing People Fest with her very dedicated and hard working volunteers. Sometimes they worked well into the night before the big day! I still can visualize the signs yet to be done - and the hours "shortening," but I was still able to "finish up" in time.

In my picture collection it is a "joy of remembering." So many who have, and continue, to support our communities - in every effort to make this a better place to "live, work and play."

So many people, so many pictorial remembrances, also so much to say THANK YOU for!
