Edna's (Air Conditioned) Restaurant

This one goes back half a century to June 17, 1958 - the very idea of having a place to eat in downtown Wadesboro that was AIR CONDITIONED!! Well, Edna Gray had such a place. Lots of people ate their "home cooked" meals there daily.

Some of you remember the location of Edna's Tea Room, many, however, do not. On the north side of the Edna's (on the corner of Rutherford and Wade Streets) was, for many years, Gray's Grocery (Edna's father and family). Next door to that was Ada's Beauty Shop and Bill's Barber Shop (note their signs in the photo).

The glass reflection shows the Shell Service Station across the street. It was in the former location of the First Baptist Church, which was organized in 1849, built in 1889.

Further down, across Rutherford Street, was Valley Lowe's Printing and still another Shell Service Station - also selling gas for about 20¢ per gallon.

Back on the Edna's side of Rutherford Street, south of her Tea Room, among many other business places was the Ansonia Theater - with admission prices of 10¢ and popcorn for a nickel...that is, if you had "that amount!!" Further down the street, where presently there is parking for J. B. Watson Company, was the Wadesboro Post Office, McInnis Electric Company and others...an area that has loads of Wadesboro history.

North Carolina's August Employment Figures
