Think Pink and Be Pink Day at AES

Ansonville Elementary School declared Thursday, October 18th as "Think Pink and Be Pink Day" in order to raise community awareness of Breast Cancer. All students wore pink bows and were allowed to wear pink shirts if they so desired.

Tracy Preslar, a fourth grade teacher at AES said, "This all day event allowed our students to understand the importance of community involvement and the concept of strength in numbers to support a good cause. Think Pink and Be Pink Day was a success and ended in a playground filled with children in pink, raising awareness and showing the community their important part in the scheme of things."

Agriculture Students at AHS Staying Busy, Learning

Exciting things are going on with Anson High School's Agriculture Department. On Thursday, October 18 students had the opportunity to attend the NC State Fair where they received some up and close experiences within agriculture. Along with the rides and great food, there were plenty of educational exhibits on crops, natural resources, live animals and more. These exhibits helped give insight to the students about many facets of agriculture. Many students had never seen some of the information they learned about.

Agriculture students also enjoyed a most informative visit from Marc Sessions (above) of the Wadesboro Fire Department. Sessions taught the students about tractor and farm safety. The students are now busy preparing for and participating in their first FFA Dairy Evaluation Career Development Event, which is taking place today (Wednesday) and tomorrow.

Anson New Tech Students Given Over 100 Chickens

On Tuesday, October 30, the students at Anson New Technology High School launched the next step in their school-wide project, "Living the Land 2.0." Each of the groups of six students received a donation of six to eight heritage baby chicks. The chicks will be raised by the students, and once fully grown will be sold for start-up capital for their agribusinesses.

Mr. Gary Sikes, President of the Heritage Poultry Foundation, and Dale Nelson (pictured right), candidate for NC House District 55, donated over a hundred chicks to the students.

If all the chicks grow to full market size, the total value of them will be $3,000. Mr. Sikes will be checking with the school and students periodically on the progress of the chicks and assist in any way possible.

This year the students have been challenged to create and implement an agribusiness of their own and they hope the capital earned from these chickens will provide them with the opportunity to extend their businesses.

November is National Hospice Month

Comfort, love and respect that hospice offers is focus of November's National Hospice and Palliative Care Month.

Every year, more than 1.58 million people living with a life-limiting illness receive care from hospice palliative care providers in the US. During National Hospice and Palliative Care Month this November, providers across the country are raising awareness of the many benefits of hospice palliative care.

More than traditional medical care - Hospice palliative care provides expert pain management, symptom control, emotional support and spiritual care to patients and family caregivers when a cure is not possible. Care is provided by a highly trained team of professionals and volunteers.

Most hospice care in the US is provided in the home - allowing people to be with their families and loved ones in comfortable surroundings at the end of life.

Research has found that 94 percent of families who had a loved one cared for by hospice rated the care as very good to excellent.

Hospice is not brink-of-death care intended for the last days of life only. It is most effective for patients and families in the final months of life when families can take full advantage of the range of services hospice provides.

Palliative care brings the same interdisciplinary team approach earlier in the course of a serious illness. Hospices are the largest providers of palliative care services in the country with many organizations working to offer a seamless continuum of care through the course of a serious illness.

Six important points to know about hospice:

- 1) Hospice care is usually provided in the home - wherever the patient calls home.
- 2) Hospice cares for people with any kind of life-limiting illness.
- 3) Hospice is fully covered by Medicare, Medicaid, and most private health plans and HMOs.
- 4) Hospice is not limited to six months of care.
- 5) Hospice is not "giving up"; rather the focus is on caring, not curing.
- 6) Anyone can contact hospice - so call your local program to learn if hospice is right for you or your loved one.

Hospice Services of Anson County, which is a part of the Carolinas HealthCare System, is located at 205 West Morgan Street in Wadesboro. The telephone number is 704-694-4880.
